South Koreans Press Drive Toward Border

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 23 (AP)—Korean Republican troops today plunged onward toward the Manchurian border, a scant 50 miles away, and a U. S. Eighth Army spokesman said he expected no more fighting against organized Red resistance in the Korean war.

While the Republic of Korea (ROK) forces slogged northward, Communists by the thousands poured out of the hills and lay down their arms. The total bag of prisoners passed the 120,000 mark—the equivalent of 12 Red divisions. In the past 24 hours 20,000 had surrendered.

Fleeing fragments of the once-potent North Korean army which invaded South Korea four months ago were funneling into the Kanggye pocket, a triangular area against the Manchurian border. Kanggye is 20 miles southeast of the Yalu river frontier.

The ROK Sixth division, closest of all to the Manchurian border, was driving in the direction of Kanggye, where Red Premier Kim Il Sung was reported to be establishing a new command headquarters.

Noting heavy enemy traffic moving in that direction, the U. S. Fifth Air Force Monday raided Kanggye with B26 attack bombers. Results were not immediately known.

Kim Il Sung used the Kanggye angle to wage guerrilla warfare against the Japanese in World War II, before Russian occupation forces made him head man of Communist North Korea in 1945.

THE ROK Sixth Division's northward dash was last reported two miles north of Huichon in the center of the Upper Korean peninsula. This put it within 50 air miles of the border and about 90 miles north of Pyongyang, Allied-captured Red capital.

Two other ROK drives also pushed steadily northward. The Capital Division on the east coast reached Iwon, 18 miles northeast of newly-captured Pukchong and 76 miles southeast of Manchuria. Another spearhead of this division, slugging through wild, mountainous terrain 18 miles inland, passed Cho, 63 miles south of the frontier.

The Republican First Division crossed the Chongchon river at Kunu, 18 miles north of Suncheon and 70 miles southeast of Manchuria.

British 27th Brigade troops likewise crossed the river near there.

The ROK First Division also put troops north of captured Tokchon, 23 miles northeast of Kunu, and at (Continued on Page Three)

125 Are Expected At Kick-Off Dinner For Chest Campaign

Some 125 persons, 80 percent of them Community Chest workers, are expected to attend the dinner tonight at 6:30 o'clock in the YMCA auditorium which will open the 1950 Community Chest campaign.

The dinner, costing $1.25 per plate, will also be the first of the five report luncheons or dinners to be held in the course of the two-week drive.

The 200 workers of the "Chest" will be aiming at this year's goal of $98,000. To date, more than $29,000 has been contributed in special gifts.

Principal speaker at tonight's dinner will be Rev. W. Brown, president of the Reading railroad company and president of Philadelphia's United Fund drive, which includes the Community Chest campaign.

Brown will be introduced by George J. Parker, general manager of the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana corporation, who arranged for the rail president's appearance.

PARKER, IN TURN, will be introduced by Thomas A. McCaslin (Continued on Page Three)

Hunter Employees, Union Chiefs See Victory for TWU in Today's Balloting

A union victory in today's balloting at the E. V. Hunter corporation, Stowe, was predicted last night by union leaders and plant employees during a rally of 280 Pottstown area textile mill workers in CIO hall.

One hundred and eighty-seven Hunter employees will vote today between 3 and 4 p. m. on affiliation with the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO).

The election is sponsored by the National Labor Relations board, with NLRB Examiner Bernard Samoff scheduled to supervise the voting.

Two other plants already have voted to join the TWU. Workers at the Vaughan Knitting company

Her Son Survives 'Death March'

Good news comes to Mrs. George Makarounis, of Boston, who holds a photograph of her son, Lt. Alexander G. Makarounis, one of three Americans to escape a brutal North Korean "death march." The officer was among the group of U. S. prisoners which the Communists marched from Seoul to Pyongyang, when 280 were cruelly murdered.

Neighbor's Action Halts Gas Mishap

Mrs. Joseph A. Schmitt, Township Line road, Royersford RD, was rescued promptly yesterday from the possibility of being completely overcome by coal gas—thanks to a party-line telephone neighbor.

She felt herself being overcome by the gas from the first-floor heater early in the afternoon. As her strength began to ebb, she managed to reach her telephone.

When she picked up the telephone, her voice was heard by Mrs. Mary L. Slepicka, who lives near Route 422 on Royersford RD and who was carrying on a conversation with another woman on the line.

Mrs. Schmitt was able to tell Mrs. Slepicka that she was being overcome by gas.

MRS. SLEPICKA knew M. W. Bennett, a friend of Mrs. Schmitt's who lives about two blocks from the Schmitt home. Mrs. Slepicka herself wasn't sure where Mrs. Schmitt lived.

A phone call from Mrs. Slepicka sent Bennett speeding in his car to the Schmitt house. He led her outside, opened the windows and called Dr. W. R. Wilkins, Schwenksville, who treated her.

Mrs. Schmitt had been alone in the house. Her husband, a worker at the Firestone Tire and Rubber company's Pottstown plant, had left for work about 2 p. m., Bennett said.

He said he believed the leak had been caused by a faulty flue in the heater.

350 Persons Attend Concert at The Hill

Three hundred and fifty persons heard the Berkshire quartet play a concert in The Hill school's Memorial hall last night, the first of three centennial concerts sponsored by the school.

The musicians played the Ravel quartet, a selection by the contemporary Malipiero, "Rispetti e Strambotti" and were joined by Pianist Ward Davenney in the Brahms piano quintet, op. 34.

These concerts are sponsored by The Hill humanities program. Last night's program was selected to represent the past century in music. Later this season, a recital will be given by the French pianist, Gaby Casadesu, and a program of vocal solo and choral music is scheduled later in 1951.

SPEAKERS WERE Morris Rizer, assistant regional director of the TWU; Samuel Frost, international representative; a committee of four persons from the Gibbs underwear plant in Philadelphia; Mrs. Helen Hohl, chairman of the Century-Beverly plant committee; Verrill voted, 124-62, for affiliation on Sept. 12, and at the Century-Beverly corporation employees voted, 171-26, in favor of the union on Oct. 10. Of the 280 workers at last night's meeting, 136 were from the Hunter plant. It was announced that 90 percent of the Hunter employees have signed union cards.

Pheasant Ducks Guns in Chicken Sanctuary

LUTHER, Mich., Oct. 23 (AP)—A wily pheasant on the farm of Robert C. Smith apparently knows the bird hunting season is on.

The pheasant has taken up residence with a flock of chickens, adopting the old strategy: "there's no one here but us chickens."

INDUSTRY GIVES SCHOOL TIPS ON VOCATIONAL AID

Educators Also Explain Problems Involved in Guidance for Job-Seekers

By LARRY DAVIS
(Mercury Staff Writer)

The advantage of a basic education augmented with courses in industrial arts coincidental with progressive and continuous guidance of pupils through Junior and Senior High school became the theme of a guidance and counseling forum last night between industry and the public schools.

The two-hour conference developed into a friendly exchange of ideas between 13 schoolmen, five industrialists, three school board members and two representatives of the Pennsylvania State Employment service.

Among the points brought out were these:

1. Industry is faced with the problem of quickly sizing up an employment prospect. The more known of his background and aptitudes, the better it will be for the applicant.
2. Regardless of any pre-employment disclosures of a job applicant's abilities or limitations, industry itself wants to test him to its own satisfaction.
3. The community at large is too hasty in placing the onus of responsibility upon an individual's development upon the school system alone and blaming it for any subsequent failures or misfires.
4. The schools have the responsibility of interpreting the pupil's abilities and limitations and informing parents of the findings so that professional vocational guidance can be assisted from the standpoint of the home and parents.
5. The number of avenues available for aptitude testing of children has not been exhausted.
6. Industry itself, by helping create labor-management atmospheres and by setting certain standards for employment has created a problem which it should attempt to solve for itself.

THE ATMOSPHERE of the conference at the Senior High school, following a dinner, was one of earnest endeavor to probe the vagaries surrounding proper counseling of youth toward future vocations.

The discussion ranged through fact and fiction, touching on actual anonymous case histories to provide some reasonable norms.

While there was only a token attempt to reach a conclusion, conferees were unanimous in saying that they each learned much from the opinions and suggestions offered by the others.

LEWIS F. MARAFFIE, school psychologist who acted as moderator, asked these questions at the outset:

"What would you like to know about the people who come to you for work? What information about them can we give you?"

Though not formally stated at any point, the answer was provided by Maraffie himself who later asserted the school system might make available such information as the intelligence, standing, emotional makeup, mechanical ability, clerical

GOP Will Hear How McConnell Voted on Issues

Samuel K. McConnell Jr., seeking re-election to Congress in the Nov. 7 election, will explain his voting record on military defense and foreign loans tonight at 8 o'clock at a Republican party rally in the Moose home.

He will tell his audience that since he went to Congress in 1944, he has voted for appropriations for the armed forces, extension of selective service, a 70-group Air Force and other defense measures.

McConnell also is scheduled to comment on his support of the Atlantic pact and similar mutual defense associations, and on his stand in favor of relief assistance for foreign nations and for Marshall Plan legislation.

The congressman will be the featured speaker at tonight's meeting. Others will include Assemblyman Henry J. Probert, candidate for (Continued on Last Page)

Quick Calls on Close Calls Win Top Cash for Tipsters

Close calls won the top prizes yesterday in The Mercury's weekly news tip contest.

First prize of $5 went to Mrs. Patricia Seyler, Apt. 10, Road C, Hilldale, for her report that a sister, eight-year-old Delue Vogt, 59 West Fourth street, had contracted "abortive polio," the nearest possible thing to a serious case of the dreaded disease.

Gail Stadman, Douglassville RD 1, captured the second prize of $3 with a tip to The Mercury that two men had escaped death by inches in a sudden slide of 100,000 tons of rock at a Stowe quarry.

Royersford Woman Is Killed; Steps in Path of Locomotive

No Time for a Bird to Stick Its Neck Out

Tom Nicholson, Douglassville turkey raiser, goes looking for an especially promising bird on his farm. He's got plenty of choice since he and his wife raise 10,000 a year. He's scouting the group living in one of the enormous rows of coops placed on stilts high above the ground. When the holiday rush comes, there won't be any hatchet. There'll be an assembly line setup that rivals any industry.

'Poop' From the Coop: Turkeys Plentiful, Prices Up Few Cents

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Turkeys will be plentiful for the holidays, and prices will be no more than a cent or two higher than the past year.

These were two of the things learned yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nicholson, who have a Douglassville turkey farm along Route 622, a half mile north of Route 422.

Another thing that can be learned from the Nicholsons is what in the world someone does to take care of 10,000 nearly full-grown gobblers.

They call their place Nicholson's Turkey farm, but factory might be a better word, what with electric de-featherers, mechanical tendon pullers, traveling chains, plastic bags, vacuum pumps and even de-beaking machines around the place.

It's all part of a successful plot to put turkey-raising on a scientific basis.

THE NICHOLSONS said yesterday that it seemed to be the consensus of local turkey-growers that there would be enough birds to go around this year and that prices would range from 45 to 55 cents a pound for live weight turkeys.

This price range would be just about the past year's, possibly a cent or two higher at the most, they said.

Nicholson emphasized that live weight means feathers, neck and all. His wife underscored the point by saying, "Live weight is what you get if you tie one by the neck and lead 'im away.'"

They pointed out that live weight prices are the basis for all turkey prices. Prices for various kinds of dressed birds are based on the percentage of loss, through elimination of feathers, neck, viscera and so forth.

Ordinary dressed birds cost approximately 10 cents a pound more than the live weight.

THE 10,000 TURKEYS (that's an approximation; the Nicholsons haven't counted them recently) live in enormous rows of coops, built on stilts higher than a man's head. Floor boards of the coops are far enough apart to allow the ground beneath them to be a fertilizer dealer's dream, but not so far that the turkeys can't walk easily across them.

The birds are kept off the ground to keep them from catching colds and other ailments.

In addition, the coops are to keep the turkeys from being their natural stupid selves. He's liable to try to eat anything that's lying around, Mrs. Nicholson said.

The only thing the turkeys will find lying around their coops are balanced rations of corn, oats and especially, concentrated condensed milk.

TURKEY POULTS are even more stupid than chicks, Mrs. Nicholson said.

"You almost have to dunk each one in the feed before they will venture to take a nibble," was her explanation.

The coops are small enough so that the hundred or so turkeys in each one won't have room enough to walk any meat off their bones, and low enough so they can't fly off.

Part of modern turkey raising is a de-beaking machine so that toms and hens won't hurt each other in fights. Mrs. Nicholson said that in the close quarters, there is a natural confusion and resentment about mates.

"As a rule, the female of the species gets the tom she wants," Mrs. Nicholson observed.

THE TURKEYS' HIGH living comes to an end in an assembly-line setup which can accommodate up to 100 birds an hour and which employs 20 workers at peak season.

The turkey is put in one of six big metal funnels with his head striking out at the bottom. A worker sticks it in the brain with a knife, then slits its jugular vein. (Continued on Last Page)

TRAIN THROWS BODY 40 FEET ALONG TRACKS

Mentally Ill Divorcee Previously Had Attempted To Set Mattress Ablaze

A 41-year-old mentally illing Royersford divorcee died yesterday morning after being hit by a Reading railroad engine which she steadfastly watched bearing down on her. Mrs. Edith Q. Rapp, 522 Walnut street, Royersford, died instantly when the train threw her body 40 feet along the south side of the tracks at Royersford's Arch street crossing.

Chester county Deputy Coroner Cooper T. Bishop, Phoenixville, said the death was a suicide. The woman was officially pronounced dead in Phoenixville hospital.

The train that hit the woman was a Philadelphia-bound express which had pulled away from the Royersford station, half a mile away, at 10:04 a. m.

Royersford Police Chief Bryson Turner said the sole witness to the incident was Harold Benfield, Lewis road, Royersford RD 1, a Jones Motor company truck driver, who had stopped his truck at the crossing waiting for the train to pass.

Benfield said the heavy-set woman stepped onto the tracks and stood facing the oncoming engine until it hit her.

The train's engineer, J. F. Carr, Pottsville, spotted Mrs. Rapp an instant before the collision and threw on the brakes. It was not enough to slow the train appreciably.

The train had just rounded a bend, which kept the woman out of sight until the last moment.

MEMBERS OF Mrs. Rapp's family said it was the second act of desperation she had committed that morning. She lived with parents, Charles and Ethel Quay.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, neighbors said, she set fire to the mattress in her bedroom and then attempted to flee the house.

Two of her sisters wrestled with her, trying to keep her at home. But she finally broke free hours later after hitting one of the sisters. Members of the family threw the flaming mattress out the window.

A member of the family called Chief Turner and asked him to locate Mrs. Rapp and return her to the home.

1.32 Inches of Rain Falls Here; Cool Seen for Today

A fading northeaster dumped 1.32 inches of rain on the Pottstown area, ending shortly after 9 a. m. yesterday.

It was the heaviest rainfall of the month and a blow to farmers who are waiting for corn to dry before harvest.

Today will be like yesterday after 9 a. m.—cloudy and cool. Tomorrow will be fair and milder in the afternoon.

Edmund Koser to Seek Re-Appointment As County Housing Authority Secretary

Edmund J. Koser, executive secretary of the Montgomery County Housing authority since December, 1944, will be up for re-appointment to the job at the authority's annual reorganization meeting tomorrow.

The authority, which has Hilldale and Penn Village in its jurisdiction and which is moving ahead with plans for a new Federal housing project adjoining Penn Village, also will elect its other officers.

Present officers are Richard F. Smale, 140 King street, chairman; Felix Perry, Wyndmore, vice chairman; and James M. Henderson, Carroll Park, treasurer.

Koser said he would be a candidate to succeed himself but added that, of course, he had no assurance he would be re-appointed. The position pays $3700.

A native of Cumberland county, Koser has lived in the Ardmore section for the past 23 years. With a long background in the real estate business, he took the housing authority position when the authority shifted from a Robert C. Winthrop management.

He succeeded Robert C. Winthrop, Haverford, to the position and has been re-appointed each year since.

Koser is married, a veteran of World War I and is active in the American Legion.

Errol Flynn Takes 3d Leap In Marriage to Pat Wymore

NICE, France, Oct. 23 (AP)—Film actor Errol Flynn and actress Patrice Wymore were married today in civil and religious ceremonies on the sunny French Riviera.

After a ceremony before Mayor Charles Palmaro in Monte Carlo this morning, they were wed this afternoon in the Lutheran Church of the Transfiguration.

No. 3 for Errol...

ERROL FLYNN

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wymore of Salina, Kan., attended the ceremonies.

The actor was formally attired for the religious ceremony, in contrast to a blue business suit he wore at the civil proceedings in the city of the principality of Monaco.

Miss Wymore had on a full length white gown with a four-yard train.

It was the third marriage for the 41-year-old Australian-born Flynn, the first for his bride.

The ceremony was more like a neighborhood wedding that might have taken place in the Mid-West, rather than on the famed French Riviera. It lacked the glitter and glamor surrounding the usual marriage of Hollywood celebrities.

THERE WAS NO mob scene and Monaco's police force, which had been mobilized to handle 10,000 persons, had little to do.

The couple exchanged plain platinum band rings and said their vows before the Rev. Franck Gueuthal, who performed the church ceremony. The minister preached a 15-minute sermon before pronouncing the words: "what God hath put together let no man put asunder."

Flynn and his bride posed smilingly for photographers outside the church and were showered with rice before driving away under a French police escort.

Officers and enlisted men of a United States Naval Squadron, anchored along the Riviera coast, were among the guests at a post-wedding reception in Monte Carlo's swank Hotel de Paris. They included Capt. Forrest Close of the fleet squadron.

Also present were George Sawaya Jr., of Salina, Kan., a sailor on the U. S. Carrier Coral Sea and a personal friend of the Wymore family.

Lost 'Explorers', Dog Rescued From Tunnel

HARLANSBURG, Oct. 23 (AP)—Hundreds gathered at the mouth of a newly found cave cheered mightily early today as three young explorers and a little dog were brought to safety after 12 hours in the bat infested underground tunnels.

Carbide lights of the three failed one by one as they wandered through the maze-like passageways in search of unusual rock and crystal formations. They just sat it out in the pitch blackness 1800 feet from the entrance until help arrived.

Reports the three were missing spread rapidly on a quiet sabbath in this Western Pennsylvania hamlet of 500. The cave had been discovered only in recent weeks due to a nearby highway construction project.

Townfolk turned out full force to aid the search as did about 1500 other men and women from surrounding communities.

Aided by bloodhounds and twin safety lines to permit safe return to the entrance, one of five rescue groups finally came upon the little group in a large chamber 25 feet from floor to ceiling where whirling bats added to a weird setting.

CROUCHED TOGETHER there were Herbert Harkless, 12; Eddie McClelland, 16, son of a funeral director; Ernest Mallinak, 26, construction company worker, and "Andy," McClelland's year-old Cocker spaniel.

"Heck," said the Harkless boy, "I guess I'll have to go to school today as usual."

His overjoyed mother had quick assurance he could take off a couple of days.

This is Herbie Harkless' account of the wait for help:

"They told me it was about midnight and I was tired and cold. Then I heard some yelling later and I knew they were coming to get us."

"I felt better."

Symington Asks Delay for Wage, Price Controls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—W. Stuart Symington today spoke out against immediate price and wage curbs and asked the country to give other inflation controls a "chance to work," saying they might do the job alone.

Symington, who co-ordinates the whole economic mobilization program from his seat as chairman of the National Security Resources board, faced reporters at his first news conference since that program began.

It would seem "dangerous," he said, to put sweeping controls on prices and wages without first trying to handle the problem of inflation with other—like higher taxes and curbs on credit buying.

Criticism of these methods is "premature," he said, "because we haven't given them a chance to work yet, and we ought to see what they will do. Maybe they will be sufficient to do the anti-inflation job, he said, if everybody gets in there and 'plays ball.'"

McCarthy Charges Commie Infiltration In Scientific Circles

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today that "the ranks of American scientists have been infiltrated to an alarming degree by the Communist enemies of the United States."

"This real threat to the nation's security is a matter which has either been ignored by the Atomic Energy commission or treated far too lightly by this vital administrative agency of the government," he said in a statement published in an appendix to the Congressional Record.

McCarthy added, "It is the same old story of softness toward Communists which has prevailed in the State department and the Department of Justice these many years."

The Democratic majority of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee which investigated the Senator's earlier charges of Communism in the State department, found them without foundation.

McCarthy said that the performance of the Atomic Energy commission with respect to Communism "calls for a relentless examination."

He said the commission's official policy on security clearance of employees "is clear enough and adequate enough," adding that "all that is needed is a strict adherence to and application of this official policy."

"IT IS A SHOCKING FACT," McCarthy said, "that in the cases of many of the most eminent atomic scientists in the United States, there is a presumption of security risks."

As an example of what he called the "Communist infiltration of the ranks of science," McCarthy cited the election of Professor Kirtley Fletcher Mather of Harvard as 1951 president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

McCarthy said Mather "has been affiliated with upwards of 40 Communist front organizations," adding that "very few men in the academic world have a more flagrant record of supporting the cause of Stalin's fifth column in this country."

This was first proposed by Winston Churchill, British Conservative leader, at the unofficial European assembly meeting in Strasbourg last August.

McCarthy asserted that the Federation of American Scientists is "heavily infiltrated with Communist fellow travelers."

French Cabinet to Ask Compromise Army Plan

PARIS, Oct. 23 (AP)—The French cabinet agreed today to propose a united Western European army under a European defense minister as a compromise solution on Germany's contribution to Atlantic defense plans. The proposal carefully ducked approval of incorporating Germans into such an army.

The proposal is to be presented for approval of the National assembly tomorrow by Premier Rene Pleven.

Insistence by any group on an announcement agreeing to German rearmament might have broken up the coalition government. The Socialists, under Defense Minister Jules Moch, fiercely oppose the "principle" of remilitarizing Germany.

At the close of the meeting the cabinet issued the following communiqué:

"The Council of Ministers unanimously approved the text of the statement to be made by M. Pleven tomorrow at the National assembly."

INFORMATION MINISTER Albert Gazier told reporters the statement "confirms the French government's opposition to the creation, directly or indirectly, of any German army."

"The French government," he added, "is proposing a European solution to the question of Germany's contribution to the re-peace of Europe's defenses."

"It contains constructive proposals," Gazier said, "notably one for the establishment of a European army, placed under the authority of a European minister of armed forces. These proposals are related to those previously made by France for the organization of Europe on both the economic and military levels."

This was first proposed by Winston Churchill, British Conservative leader, at the unofficial European assembly meeting in Strasbourg last August.

McCarthy asserted that the Federation of American Scientists is "heavily infiltrated with Communist fellow travelers."

Gov. Duff Dedicates Turnpike Extension, Lauds Military Value

VALLEY FORGE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff dedicated the Pennsylvania turnpike's 100-mile eastern extension today and predicted it will become one of the greatest military roads in the world.

Duff officially dedicated the strip, that will be opened to the public about Nov. 1, by cutting a blue and gold tape with a gold scissors.

"This is a highway without parallel anywhere in the world," Duff told a crowd of 500 who witnessed the mid-morning ceremony. "There is not the remotest doubt that in the event of another war this will be one of the greatest military highways in the world."

"It will provide for traffic between two of the great industrial ports in America, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and will provide direct access from midcontinent of the United States to the port of Philadelphia."

Duff said the $87,000,000 high-speed toll road was built without expense to the taxpayers. The western section of the turnpike has already attracted a great deal of industry to Pennsylvania and more will come because of the new extension, he said.

Maragon Conviction Upheld by U. S. Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The perjury conviction of John Maragon, one-time White House intimate, was upheld today by U. S. Court of Appeals.

The court affirmed the conviction of the former Kansas City shoe shine boy on two counts.

That he lied to U. S. Senate investigators by saying he had only a Washington bank account when he also had one in San Antonio, Tex.

That he also perjured himself by telling the investigators he had quit working for a Chicago perfume company when he took a temporary State department job with a mission observing elections in Greece.

Motorist Is Jailed On Tippy Driving Count After Crash

A Fleetwood RD 2 motorist was held in Montgomery county prison under $500 bail last night charged with drunken driving, after the car he was driving crashed into another vehicle one mile west of Green Lane yesterday afternoon at 3:55 o'clock.

Wilson M. Hock, 68, was pronounced unfit to drive to the office of Dr. Alfred P. Leber, 513 Main street, Collegeville. He was jailed after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Charles J. Gorman, Norristown.

The collision occurred on Niantic road. Hock, driving a light 1937 truck, was going west and the other auto, a sedan, driven by Herbert L. Keyser, 44, of Woxall, was going east.

Keyser told State Troopers Raymond Miller and John J. Lutz, Collegeville, that the car he pulled to the side of the road as far as he could before being hit. No injuries resulted. The left front of both vehicles were damaged.

Hock will be given further hearing before Gorman today at 1 p. m.

FOUR POTTSTOWN area persons were injured, when the car in which they were riding struck a parked truck at the intersection of Routes 73 and 663, Hickory Park, early Saturday morning.

They were Mrs. Vernora Drumheller, 38, Pottstown RD 4, the driver, a bruised shoulder; her daughter, June Leigh, 13, chest bruises; Charles Faust, 58, Pottstown RD 4, cuts of both knees and bruise of the face; and Earl L. Missimer, 29, of 434 Walnut street, a bruised back and bruise of the left knee.

Mrs. Drumheller said she was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car as she drove on Route 73, toward Pottstown, coming into Route 663.

Her car crossed the road and struck the parked truck of Stanley Taglieber, 33, of Pennsburg. Mrs. Drumheller said Taglieber was asleep in the truck, but was not injured.

The four injured persons were taken to Pottstown hospital by a passing motorist. They were released after being given first-aid in the dispensary.

The accident was investigated by Collegeville State policeman George R. Tuckey.

aptitude and general adaptability.

It was Horace Y. Seidel, one of two representatives from the Dana division of the Spicer Manufacturing corporation, who suggested that "we might be asking too much of the schools."

"Maybe I'm old-fashioned," Seidel observed, "but my idea of a public school is to provide a good, sound basic education, to give a well-rounded background. Most young people have an idea very early of what they want to do."

A good employment manager will find a job an applicant likes. Then he'll have a good worker.

"The problem of the adjustment of the worker to labor-management is the province of industry which brought it about."

IN DISCUSSING the difficulty experienced in channeling male pupils into clerical positions, Louis E. Waldo, a teacher in the Junior High school, pointed out that boys showing such aptitudes are reluctant to pursue the work for two reasons:

1. The employment of females for office work during World War II has tinted such jobs as "sissy."
2. Starting salaries do not compare with apprentice wages in the shops.

Mrs. M. H. Cranston gives her recipe for delicious Apple and Banana Crisp

- 4 cooking apples
3 bananas
1/4 cup water
Juice of 1 lemon
Cinnamon
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
3/4 cup Franklin Brown Sugar
1/4 cup butter

Grease round 8" baking dish. Peel and slice apples and bananas; place in alternate layers in baking dish. Pour over water and lemon juice; sprinkle generously with cinnamon.

Mix together, until crumbly, flour, sugar and butter; sprinkle top. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375° F., 20 minutes. Serve warm or cold. It's so quick... so easy... and this Apple and Banana Crisp is so delicious, say all the friends of Mrs. Mildred H. Cranston of Trenton, N. J. Mrs. Cranston adds that Franklin Old Fashioned Brown Sugar gives just the right touch of rich, caramel flavor... in fact, she says, she uses Franklin Sugars in all her cooking, and for summer iced drinks, too, and always gets:

Franklin's "Famous Five" Advantages

1. 100% Pure Sugar Cane Sugar
2. Extra-Fine Granulated
3. Fast-Dissolving
4. Free-Mixing
5. Enriches Food Flavors

Cutest Baby in Vienna

The hearts of the judges in a Vienna baby contest were stolen by chubby, 11-month-old Marion Wolff who won the title, "Vienna's Cutest Baby." Held by her mother, Marion reaches for a rag doll, part of the award presented to the cherubic winner.

It was brought out, along this line, that a pupil with academic leanings cannot be encouraged to take an academic course if his family is not financially able to provide a college education.

STANLEY I. DAVENPORT Jr., vice-principal of the Senior High school, observed that the cost is so vast and the opportunity for self-improvement during college is so limited that such pupils are discouraged from the beginning.

Thus, a college prospect, regardless of counselling, goes into some other line of work from what he might be best suited, it was agreed.

Contrarywise, Davenport said, it would be most difficult to convince a parent who has decided his son will go to college that he is better suited for some work in industrial production.

Others taking part in the discussions were Dr. George A. McCormick, superintendent of schools; Miss Helen V. Purnell, vice-principal of the Junior High school; Earl J. Custer, Doehler-Jarvis corporation; Miss Catherine Coyne and Miss Edith Head, of the PSES; Alvin Ramsdell, of Stanley G. Flag and company, Inc.; and S. Leonard Miller, Dana division, Spicer Manufacturing company.

The counselling program in the Junior High school was explained by William A. James Jr., guidance counselor, while Harry L. Smith, principal of the Senior High school, explained the program there.

Others present were: William D. Mower, principal of the Junior High school; Harvard E. Fosnacht, elementary school principal; W. O. Cressman, vocational director; J. Robert Von Drach, Senior High school instructor; William O. Smith, Veterans' school director; Miss Virginia M. Weaver, Junior High school instructor; George D.

Moose Lodge Reveals Plans for Three-Day Anniversary Fete

Detailed plans for the 40th anniversary of Pottstown Lodge 369, Loyal Order of Moose, were announced last night at a regular meeting.

The affair will extend over three days—from Friday, Nov. 3, to Sunday, Nov. 5.

The opening program will be a smoker Friday at 9 p. m., with a New York vaudeville show and free refreshments. Only Moose members will be admitted.

On Saturday night, the regular 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. dance will be held, but with a larger-than-usual stage show and a special "surprise." The 40th anniversary Brotherhood class of candidates will be initiated Sunday at 2:30 p. m., by a degree team from the Mahanoy City lodge. Guests at the affair will be the lodge's 25 charter members.

J. Jack Stoehr, of Pittsburgh, regional Moose director of Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey and West Virginia, will be the speaker at the initiation.

THE LODGE ALSO announced plans for its annual Christmas party for members' children. It will be held Wednesday, Dec. 20 in the lodge auditorium. Candy, oranges and gifts will be given away by Santa Claus and a show will be provided.

Members may register children up to and including ten years at the lodge on the following Fridays: Nov. 17 and 24 and Dec. 1 and 8.

The 42 members at the session in charge of George Rhoads, governor, also voted to co-operate with the local Red Cross disaster committee by agreeing to use of lodge facilities in case of any emergency.

Four new members were initiated and 22 applications were received at the session.

U. S. Throws Out Net For Active Alien Reds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Justice department today announced a swift crackdown on 86 persons tabbed as active alien Communists. A coast-to-coast roundup netted nearly a score of them in the initial stages.

These aliens, described by officials as having carried on Communist propaganda work, were marked for detention and possible deportation. FBI agents and U. S. Immigration officials were reported on the track of those not yet picked up.

Some of the arrests were made before dawn yesterday. Others were seized in half a dozen cities today. The Justice department said the ten "most important" aliens in the group were taken in first.

SOUTH KOREANS —

Anju, near the west coast at Korea's narrow waistline.

A ROK Sixth Division column slashed in 15 miles north of Anju and seized the town of Yongbyon.

Stiffest recent Red resistance was as old as Sunday, in actions involving Republican Eighth division forces and British and Australians 35 to 50 miles north of Pyongyang. The enemy died after four hours of rear-guard fighting that cost him 200 dead and 300 wounded.

In general, resistance had vanished.

MANY PRISONERS that the Reds had taken months ago were escaping—but not all. The Reds tarried long enough to massacre some.

Sixty-eight Americans were machinegunned to death near Sunchow last Friday evening, and 500 South Koreans were reported bayoneted and burned at Yonghung, near the east coast.

The Eighth Army spokesman, in stating his personal opinion that no more organized opposition need be expected, added that he believed the only battle action left in the United Nations advance to the Manchurian border would be against small pockets of Red troops.

Associated Press correspondent Don Whitehead, returning from the Suncheon area, reported that "Reds are coming out of the hills literally by the thousands and laying down their rifles. The ROKs are virtually unopposed. Only small scattered groups of Reds are met."

The roads, Whitehead said, were lined with civilians who only a short time ago were in the Communist army. They had changed into civilian garb and joined others at the roadsides in cheering the ROK troops advancing northward.

However, Associated Press correspondent Stan Swinton at Wonsan reported menacing signs of enemy activity behind the front. Civilians, he said, reported 3,000 rugged Red soldiers, in groups of 200 to 300, were venturing out of the hills 20 miles south of Wonsan. American planes failed to locate them.

Civilians said the hungry Reds were making only foraging expeditions.

County Republicans Predict Nov. 7 Victory; Democrats Say GOP Majority Will Be Cut

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, Oct. 23—Expecting one of the closest elections in years, Republican and Democratic leaders of Montgomery county today made final predictions on the outcome of the balloting, Tuesday, Nov. 7.

County Commissioner Fred C. Peters, Republican spokesman, said that he expects the GOP in Montgomery county to come out of the election with a 25,000 to 30,000 majority for its candidates.

On the other hand, Commissioner Raymond K. Mensch, chairman of the County Democratic committee, estimated that his party has put on such a whirlwind campaign that the usual staggering Republican majorities will be cut to "20,000 or less this time."

In addition, Mensch predicted that at least one of the Democratic candidates for county office has an even chance of being elected. He is John Quarry, of Norristown, a labor leader, running for the General assembly from the county's second district.

Mensch based his outlook on the fact that Quarry is seeking office in a heavy industrial area comprised of Norristown, Conshohocken and Plymouth township.

Quarry's opponent is Attorney Thomas H. W. Jones, of Norristown, a deputy attorney general, who is running for the General assembly from the county's first district.

Branner Jr., House Majority leader, on the Republican ticket.

IT IS THE OPINION of political observers that all other Republican candidates will have little trouble and win easily, including Congressman Samuel K. McConnell Jr., of Lower Merion township, who is seeking his fourth term in the House of Representatives. He is opposed by Leon C. MacMullen, Democrat, of Pottstown.

Other candidates for county offices are: State Senator, Henry J. Probert, (R), Bethayres; Lois Forer (D), Melrose Park; First District assembly, John A. Lafore Jr. (R), Lower Merion township; Paul V. Burns (D), Bala Cynwyd; Third District assembly (three to be elected), William A. Bolton (R), Glenside; Howard F. Boorse (R), Lansdale; Raymond C. Kratz (R), Ft. Washington; David A. Montgomery (D), Wynote; J. Alfred Marquet (D), Pottstown; Sidney Schulman (D), Elkins Park.

Final voter registration figures, compiled this week by the County Registration commission, show that the Republicans outnumber the Democrats better than four to one. Out of a total enrolment of 165,808 voters in the county, 131,603 are Republican and 31,004 Democrat. Non-partisans are third, with 31,281.

Special issues to be voted on are a $200,000 school loan in Lower Providence township and a $300,000 school loan in Springfield township.

703 AWOL's Are Reported In Canadian Korea Group

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (AP)—News-papers report say at least 703 of a 9000 man special Canadian brigade for Korea are absent without leave, but the Defense ministry put off making any statement on the situation today.

More than 100 of those absent already are classed as deserters, having been absent more than 21 days, the newspaper reports said.

Couple Divorced in 1912 Gets License to Rewed

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—A couple divorced in 1912 today got a license to rewed.

Arthur Hunnewell Shaw, 63, Hobe Sound, Fla., and Agrata von Schrader Carroll, 58, of New York City, both had married again since their Massachusetts divorce 38 years ago.

His second wife, the former Nella Barlow, died in 1949, and her second husband, Lauren Carroll, died in 1945.

Services will be held from a Parkerford funeral home at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, with the Rev. Russell Berger, pastor of the Linfield Reformed church, officiating.

Surgeons Reveal Electric Shock Machine That Artificially Stimulates Still Heart

BOSTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—A new electric shock machine can start up a heart that quits beating, two Canadian surgeons reported today.

The tiny currents also can keep a heart beating at a steady, normal rate, to help a tired heart. The currents are applied to a little lump on the heart which is the heart's own pacemaker of its beating. This lump or node is the source of natural electrical impulses controlling and co-ordinating your heart beat.

The metal-tipped electrode giving off the shocks can be inserted through a vein to reach the heart, and stimulate it artificially.

The artificial pacemaker machine was described to the American College of Surgeons by Dr. J. C. Callaghan and Dr. W. G. Bigelow of the University of Toronto.

Used only on animals so far, it may become a new way of saving people whose heart suddenly stops during operations, they said. Surgeons sometimes can start a heart up again by massaging it, or by injecting drugs. The machine might also help people whose heartbeats suddenly go dangerously haywire and irregular.

The stopped heart of one dog was stimulated to beat again and then was kept going in controlled beats for 30 minutes until his own heart took over again, the surgeons said. The dog recovered without any apparent ill effects.

THE PACEMAKER took over successfully in other dogs whose heart beats had slowed far below normal. The beats touched off by the electricity are strong enough to maintain normal blood pressure. The beats can be made faster or slower by varying the frequency of the electrical pulses from the machine.

The pulses come from a special machine, a thyatron stimulator. By use of long tubes, the electrode can be pushed through a large vein to reach the heart. The electrode doesn't have to actually touch the heart's own pacemaker bump. It works even when the tip of the electrode is near three-fourth of an inch away from that spot, Drs. Callaghan and Bigelow said.

Pieces of borrowed arteries can be used to overcome a serious blocking of blood flow to the lungs, said Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel of Harvard Medical school. The trouble comes from a narrowing of the pulmonary artery, the outlet from the right side of the heart.

Dr. Hufnagel used dog arteries, preserved in an artery bank, in 20 operations on dogs. The new pieces of arteries were substituted to widen portions of the pulmonary artery. Only one dog died.

Four research teams reported progress in devising mechanical hearts that detour blood away from one side of the heart. The goal is to keep part of the heart free of blood, so it can be opened for direct vision operations to fix faulty or diseased valves or other heart troubles.

Senator May Air Mushroom 'Racket'

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23 (AP)—A report on an investigation by a State senator into what he terms a "racket" at the expense of Chester county mushroom growers may be announced tomorrow.

Sen. George B. Scarlett has charged that manure sold to mushroom growers has been watered down but sold at full weight cost. Scarlett announced Sunday night he would check on truckers he said are carrying on the racket.

Joseph P. Blickley, director of the Department of Weights and Measures, said he had no comment on the Senator's claim. He said he would see the senator's report tomorrow and expected to have something to announce.

Scarlett said the racket has cost Chester county mushroom growers an estimated $1,200,000 a year.

Vinson Proposes Boosted Marine Corps To Serve as United Nations Police Force

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Expansion of the United States Marine Corps for possible use as a United Nations police force was suggested today by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House armed services committee.

Vinson advanced the idea in an copyrighted interview in "U. S. News and World Report" magazine.

In addition, Vinson advocated establishment of an armed force of 3,000,000 men for this country at an estimated annual cost of from $35,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000.

He said the United States should "get away from letting the Soviet Union dictate our military policy" and should have "a stable, long-range policy that can ride over periodic crises without all this commotion, disturbance, inefficiency and terrible waste."

For the Marine corps, Vinson proposed at least four combat divisions—requiring a total of about 200,000 men—and 24 air squadrons, instead of the two war-strength divisions and 18 air squadrons now planned.

"THE MARINES," he said, "could be used quite effectively in connection with the police force of the United Nations . . . the Marines are peculiarly adapted to the present situation of the world . . . in fact, the Marines have been used for this kind of purpose for so long that they almost have an international flavor about them."

Vinson said there should be no slackening of the defense program simply because the situation in Korea has become brighter.

Because of the manpower shortage, Vinson said, men drafted into the armed forces should be required to serve for 24 months instead of 21, and the draft age may have to be raised.

World War II veterans now exempt from the draft, he said, should remain exempt "unless it's absolutely necessary" for them to be called.

He said he believes there should be a rotation in calling National Guard divisions to active service and the four divisions now on duty should be replaced when practicable.

For the Air Force he called for "around 80 to 90 air groups" instead

Hundreds March in Hallowe'en Parade At Spring City; Prize Winners Listed

Hundreds of kiddies strutted their talent attired in finery and grotesqueness before one of the largest crowds ever attending a Kiddies' Hallowe'en celebration in Spring City last night, competing for cash prizes and the fun of it.

It was the 25th annual frolic of the juveniles, staged on Main street, which was packed with spectators all along the four and one-half square route.

The gay procession moved on Main street, from New street, to Poplar street, counter-marched again to the starting point, at Main and New streets, where prizes were awarded from the porch of Spring City inn.

With Burgess Benjamin P. Bertolet and Police Chief John Hanebury leading the way in the police car, the parade was headed by Spring City high school band. The color guard in front, was composed of Janet Mull, Wanda Bandurski, Darleen Dare, Helen Sheeley and Nina Monestaro.

Helen Haku, drum majorette, paced the majorettes, Nancy Hulvey, Sonia Haldeman, Patsy Rentschler, Faye McIntyre and Barbara Copenhafer.

NORTH COVENTRY high school band, scheduled to participate in the parade, failed to appear, explaining its absence due to the threatening weather.

Royersford High school band headed by Miss Alice Shimpf, leader, riding in a convertible because of her recent illness, followed a line of marchers. The color guard comprised Franz Sprenger, Jimmy Ewing, George Baumgard and Carl Hilberg.

Johanna Sprenger, drum majorette, led the majorettes, Josephine DePalo, Jeanette Yeager, Janet Jones, Edna Edelman, Molly Kline and Carolyn Breaks.

Pennhurst State school band led the last division. The swing band of the group later entertained on the hotel porch, while awaiting decision of the judges.

Judges, composed of members of the faculties of Spring City high school and Pennhurst State school, were William Ewing, Anna E. Hughes, Mrs. Joanne B. Cotton, Bayly Hendrickson, Mrs. Ada Balcombe, Louise Rys, Florence Bishop, Mary Ann Intelsano, Robert Roberts, Mrs. Frank Kramer, James Hewitt and Walter M. Clevensline.

PRIZE WINNING numbers were announced through a loud speaker by James Haldeman, of the committee. Prizes awarded were:

Harold L. Slean, Borough Native, Dies

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23—The Capital has received word of the death of Pottstown-born Harold L. Slean, 54, chief of the general accounting field office in Portland, Ore.

Mr. Slean, who left Pottstown as a youth and who was long a Washington resident, died of leukemia. He had been ill for several weeks.

The GAO officer was graduated from the Southeast School of Accounting in Washington. After serving in the Navy during World War I, he went to work for the Interstate Commerce commission. He transferred to the GAO in 1932 and from 1941 until he became head of the Portland field office in 1945, he was a traveling field agent in the Northwest territory.

A member of the Masons in Washington, Mr. Slean will have Masonic rites at the Fort Myer, Va., chapel Friday at 11 a. m. Interment will be in Arlington cemetery. Surviving are his wife, Alice; a son, Harold Jr., a State department employee; two grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Florence Zeiber, of Reading, and Mrs. Earl Anthonson, of Washington. Names of Mr. Slean's parents were not available.

Ex-Governor General Of Virgin Islands Dies

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Charles Harwood, 70, former governor general of the Virgin Islands, died tonight after a long illness. A New York lawyer, Harwood was governor general of the Virgin Islands from January, 1941, to January, 1946. He was a close friend of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Edward P. Carey, Bell Telephone installer of Uniontown, Pa., buying shoes for his son, David, at local store

Good Customer

Like thousands of other Bell Telephone men and women in Pennsylvania, Edward Carey is a good customer for local businesses of many, many types: clothing stores, food stores, fuel dealers, automotive dealers, furniture stores.

In fact, practically every kind of local business in Pennsylvania benefits from the purchases of Bell Telephone people, whose earning power within the state now exceeds $100 million yearly.

Thus the money you spend in payment of telephone bills does more than buy good telephone service. It assures good wages for telephone people, which in turn helps assure work and wages for great numbers of Pennsylvanians in local business establishments.

Invitations to Annual Spat and Slipper Ball Are Issued; List of Patrons Is Announced

Invitations for the sixth annual Spat and Slipper ball were issued last night by members of the committee at Brookside Country club. Mr. and Mrs. John Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCaslin serve on the invitation committee.

The ball is held for the benefit of the Pottstown and Memorial hospitals. Originally, it was begun by a group of young men from Brookside in 1938, and was called the Bachelor's Cotillion.

It continued through the years 1939 and 1940. During the war years, 1941 to 1945, the dance was canceled. When it was resumed in 1946, the affair was called the Spat and Slipper ball, simply because most of the young men had married and thought the name "Bachelor's Cotillion" not appropriate.

Because of the return of the servicemen, the dance was held twice in 1946—in January, and then in the Fall. After that the group decided to set the date for the day after Thanksgiving.

Miss Alma Schurr Becomes Bride of Mr. Robert Millard

Miss Alma Mae Schurr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schurr, Douglassville, became the bride of Mr. Robert Earl Millard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Millard, Monocacy, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Amityville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Dundore, pastor, before a background of white chrysanthemums, ferns and rhododendron greens. Mr. Charles Millard, brother of the bridegroom, sang appropriate selections, accompanied by Miss Katherine Bossler, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned on graceful lines with a high neckline and long sleeves pointed over the wrists. The fitted bodice was of Chantilly lace. Panels of lace fell from the bodice to the floor. Her fingertip length veil was attached to a white satin, pearl studded Juliet cap.

SHE CARRIED an old-fashioned bouquet of white chrysanthemums interlaced with white satin ribbon.

Miss Jeanne Schurr, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor in a purple velvet gown featuring a low neckline with insets of nylon net and three-quarter length cuffed sleeves. A velvet flower arrangement matching her dress ornamented her hair. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of blended shades of chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Hafer, Jacksonwald; Mrs. Paul Postell, Sanatoga; and Mrs. Harvey Millard, Monocacy, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

They were gowned in sherry, hunter green and dusty pink velvet gowns identical to the one worn by the maid of honor. They also carried old-fashioned bouquets of blended shades of chrysanthemums.

MISS NANCY Schurr, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a brown velvet gown with fitted bodice topped with a scalloped Bertha collar. Susan Schurr, also a niece of the bride, was flower girl in a gown identical to the one worn by the junior bridesmaid. They carried blended bouquets of chrysanthemums.

Best man was Mr. George Hafer, Jacksonwald, and ushers were Messrs. Melvin Schurr, brother of the bride; Harvey Millard, Monocacy, brother of the bridegroom, and Donald Herman, Douglassville.

The mother of the bride wore a navy blue lace dress with burgundy accessories and a corsage of wine ruffled carnations. The mother of the bridegroom chose a beige crepe dress with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow ruffled carnations.

A reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. Out-of-town guests attended from Newport, R. I.; Westfield, Princeton and Mont Clair, N. J.; Scranton, Wilkes Barre, Philadelphia, Reading and vicinity.

THE COUPLE are honeymooning in Florida. For traveling the bride wore a cocoa gabardine suit, pale lime hat with alligator accessories and a yellow orchid corsage.

Mrs. Millard was graduated from North Coventry High school and is employed by the Doehler-Jarvis corporation as a secretary. Mr. Millard was graduated from Amityville High school and East Stroudsburg State Teachers college. He is employed by the Doehler-Jarvis corporation.

When they return from their honeymoon, the couple will reside in their newly furnished apartment at Rose Lawn, Douglassville.

Groff-Schwager Nuptials Performed in Hill Church

The marriage of Miss Doris L. Schwager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwager, Boyertown RD 1, to Mr. John Groff Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Groff Sr., Bechtelsville RD 1, was held over the weekend in the parsonage of St. Joseph's Hill Church.

The Rev. Luther Lee Lengel, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Schwager was attired in a blue lace dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Maid of honor was a sister of the bride, Miss Thelma Schwager. She wore a slate blue satin dress with navy accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Best man was Mr. Frederick Schwager, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Bechtelsville fire hall. The newlyweds are residing at the home of the bride's parents.

Many Questions From One Wife

A YOUNG wife of a few years writes me a long letter and asks a number of questions. The background of trouble against which these questions are posed is that her husband refuses to take any interest in doing the chores around the home; that he wants to spend most of his time with his family, who live nearby, and without having her along; that when he isn't visiting his family, he is out with the boys enjoying himself. He even plans weekend trips with a group of his friends, and when she asks to go along, says she is selfish to want to go everywhere he goes.

Her questions are: "What can you do to make a husband come home after working hours, help with the different chores that must be done and in general improve the appearance of his home? Am I wrong in wanting him to help me?"

"Don't you think that instead of encouraging him to spend so much time with them, his family might try to make him take an interest in his own home?"

"Do you think my husband is right when he says I am just 'old-timey' in wanting him to be at home?"

"Have I been wrong to hold my job since my marriage and help with the bills, which are invariably his own bills? I never buy anything unless I can pay for it. He charges wherever possible, or if he can't charge, writes a check. Then I must raise the money to pay the check."

"DO YOU think it is fair that now we're married I must stay at home while he goes out whenever he likes?"

And then, at the end of her letter, comes a whole barrage of questions: "Do you think I should tell him to choose between his family and me? Would I be better off to leave him, sell our home and furniture, or should I stick it out, hoping he will change? Do you think that if I go on doing all the work at home he will ever become interested in it, or should I leave certain things for him to do and nag at him until he does them? Do you really think he can love me more than anything else in the world, as he says he does, and yet say, every once in a while, that he would like to go back home to live? Don't you think that if he loved me he would be willing to stay home and help with the work, and that when he plans trips, especially for whole weekends, he would include me in the plans? Do you think the fact that I am three years older than my husband accounts for the trouble?"

NOW EACH one of these questions should really have a detailed answer. This, however, is impossible in the space I have available. All I can do is to give a general answer that will cover as many points as possible.

What I would like to say is that there is no reason why this girl should blame all these troubles on the difference between her age and her husband's. If they were companions for the first few years of their marriage, as she implies elsewhere in her letter that they were, the age difference probably is not a factor.

THE FACT that for the first year or two of their marriage they lived with her mother as she also says elsewhere, and he had no home responsibilities there, is undoubtedly much to blame for his having started his married life wrong. I certainly think his family should disapprove his spending so much time with them and send him home after a reasonable time whenever he comes. Since they apparently are encouraging him in his visits, however, this wife can hardly expect any help from that quarter.

As for his wanting to go out by himself, this seems all of a piece with his general irresponsibility, which is obviously at the bottom of all the trouble. Because she has helped earn for their needs, and taken care of his bills, his irresponsibility has increased.

I think it would be perfectly fair for this young woman to do as she suggests and tell her husband that he must choose between her and his family, and that if he chooses her, he will have to take his fair share of the obligations which every man should assume when he marries. If he doesn't want to do this, it is no way up to her to continue to carry practically the entire burden of their home and their life together.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

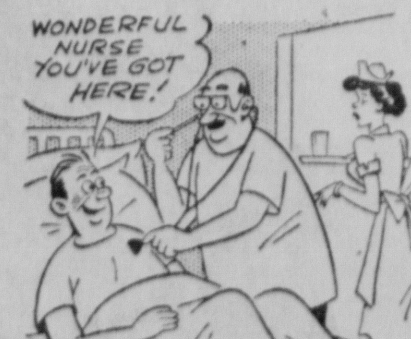

AT BELLEVUE hospital there was a doctor on the staff who acquired a modest proficiency as a ventriloquist on the side. Finding himself in need of an unskilled apprentice to help out in his laboratory, he devised his own peculiar method for testing the intelligence and nerve of the gangling youngsters who applied for the job.

To the first applicant he handed a bowl of piping-hot gruel, and remarked casually, "There's a skeleton in the coat closet over there. Feed him!" The boy proffered the bowl with the shaking hand, and when the skeleton announced, "Uh, uh! That's too hot!" he dropped everything and made for the nearest exit. Two more kids fell victim to the amateur ventriloquist's grisly gag, but the fourth applicant took it in stride. When the skeleton announced, "Take it away! It's too hot," he simply jammed the bowl between his ribs and answered cheerfully, "Then blow on it, you dumb jerk." He got the job.

THERE'S A SKELETON IN THE COAT CLOSET OVER THERE. FEED HIM!

GOOD advice is a fine thing to have, of course, but sometimes it doesn't work out just right. Herb Stein, for instance, writes of a beautiful young hopeful in Hollywood, who was assured by her agent, "The only thing you need to land a fat contract at Paramount is better posture. Learn to walk correctly and you're in." So the girl went to an expensive school and spent her days walking up and down with a book balanced on her head. And the day after she graduated, Paramount bought the book.

WONDERFUL NURSE YOU'VE GOT HERE!

In one of his classic stories, George Ade told of a thug who murdered his wife and then was put through five hours of grilling at the local police station. He finally exploded, "Gee whiz, Lieutenant, I'd never have killed her if I'd known there was gonna be all this red tape."

Labor Leaders Laud Effort to Ban War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Three top labor leaders today congratulated the United Nations General Assembly on the success of its "first effort to outlaw wars of aggression in the world."

This was a reference to U. N. action in Korea.

In an unusual show of unity, AFL President William Green, CIO President Philip Murray, and President Al Hayes of the International Association of Machinists sent this telegram to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie:

"Please convey to your General Assembly the heartfelt gratitude of all working people for the success of the United Nations first effort to outlaw wars of aggression in the world."

"When the bells ring out everywhere on U. N. day, Oct. 24, they will be sounding our fervent prayer that the United Nations can continue to grow in strength and authority so that never again will any nation dare to resort to armed aggression."

Though Women Want 'Em, State Bans Men in Club

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23 (AP)—The State Justice department today barred a Philadelphia women's club from taking in male members.

The organization, the Union of Polish Women in America, had sought permission to amend its charter to include men as well as women members.

The Justice department held however in an opinion that no fraternal benefit society in Pennsylvania organized under the Act of 1935 may amend its charter.

Iron Curtain Papers Find Less Korean War News

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 23 (AP)—Newspapers behind the Iron curtain are finding less and less news in the Korean war.

Before the Inchon landing, which turned the tide the Allies' way last month, long front-page stories were devoted to "liberation" of Korea by "heroic Korean People's army" troops.

Only recently have the Communist newspaper admitted that the war has been in North, and not South, Korea. The Soviet news agency Tass, which supplies these papers with much of their news, has been busying itself with dispatches about American "atrocities."

SMU Gains Peak In AP Grid Poll

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Southern Methodist's unbeaten Mustangs galloped to the top of the standings today in the Associated Press weekly poll to determine the country's No. 1 college football team.

The Southwest conference power, which made stubborn Rice its 42 to 21 victim Saturday night, gained 96 first place nominations from the 246 voting sports critics. Army, leader the past two weeks dropped to second despite its 49-0 conquest of Harvard while Oklahoma, the former runner up, slipped to third, the place formerly held by Southern Methodist.

Kentucky remained in fourth place and the top ten was completed by California, Ohio State, Texas, Tennessee, Northwestern and Cornell in that order.

Tennessee, Northwestern and Cornell are newcomers to the present list, replacing Stanford, Maryland and Washington, all of whom were defeated last Saturday.

With Kyle Rote as their big producer, the Mustangs have romped over five opponents from five different circuits. In order, they have defeated Georgia Tech, Ohio State, Missouri, Oklahoma A&M, and Rice. In building their unblemished record, the Texans have scored 184 points to 61 for their opponents. That's an average of 37 to 12 in each game.

They are idle this week while preparing for their annual tussle with Texas, seventh in the weekly rankings for the past two weeks.

Army's fall from the top followed its easy conquest of inept Harvard. The Cadets, unbeaten now through 24 games, had a 42-0 edge at the half before coach Earl Blaik sent in his reserves. Oklahoma also suffered in prestige despite a lopsided win. The Sooners measured Kansas State, 58-0, for their 25th straight victory.

The voting was the second heaviest in the 15 years of the poll being exceeded only by the 275 votes of last week. Only one ballot listed Notre Dame, former darling of the voters. It was for eighth place and the resultant three points dropped the Irish, beaten last Saturday by Indiana for the second loss this season, into a tie for 39th place with Louisiana State, Yale, Iowa and Virginia.

Indiana, Notre Dame's conqueror, hopped into 19th place on the strength of the victory.

Biggest jump of the tabulation, however, was registered by unbeaten Northwestern. The Wildcats leaped from 20th place a week ago to ninth today on the strength of a 28-23 victory over Pittsburgh. It was the fourth triumph for Northwestern. Tennessee's climb was almost as sensational. The Volunteers, a pre-season favorite for the Southeastern conference title but licked by Mississippi State, sky-rocketed from 18th to eighth place by nipping Alabama, 14 to 9.

Prior to its defeat by the Hoosiers, Notre Dame was in 11th place. The Irish topped the first 1950 poll and led every week during the 1949 season.

Mike Ryba Possible Successor to Dyer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23 (AP)—The name of Mike Ryba cropped up today in speculation over a possible successor to Eddie Dyer, who bowed out recently as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ryba last season managed the Boston Red Sox' Louisville, Ky., club. Reports that he was being considered as a candidate for the Redbird post, drifted into St. Louis from Ryba's home town of Springfield, Mo.

POTTSTOWN High's Trojans quit West Chester High's football rug Saturday about as near a winner as any loser ever could be and comfie in the satisfaction that they had outlasted, if not outscored the beef bound Warriors.

The Pottstowns had been good losers. Good in the sense that they were probably better while losing than was West Chester while winning. But they were not exactly happy youngsters. A two-point defeat is not the signal for grins in unison.

What happened to the Trojans is going to happen to any ball club ribbed with adolescents, particularly middle-teen adolescents. You could pile a heap of blame on young Fred Harvey, the sophomore left halfback. You could have not Fred played himself to a pulp in effort to redeem his boners.

West Chester cashed two fumbles to help keep its slender margin assembled and turned a floating pass into a 29-yard gain that set up its lone touchdown. They were undiluted "breaks" and had they gone the other way, Pottstown might be looking into a killer windup schedule with more heart.

SOBBING OVER the upturned milk schooner creates no solace, however. The only thing to do is to waste into the Chesmont league's giants on the next four weekends and come out with a scalp or two.

Off Saturday's showing, the Trojans can figure on a win or two along the road home, although Berwyn, Coatesville, Bridgeport and Downingtown are the antagonists. Once the Meyermans begin to run as well inside the 20-yard lines as between them, there will be considerable agitation.

West Chester, on the hoof, outweighed the Trojans about 12 pounds per man, but failed to corral the Trojan running attack. They had the inside answer to Sam Green, but when Six-Yard socked the ends, he was going places.

Wait Nixon indicated that he is ready to relieve Sam of some of the running load when he turned in several nice over-guard and off-tackle gains. And Harvey was no small shakes as an outside runner when he had blocking help.

IT WAS DEFINITELY an improved Trojan team that sank to two-point defeat Saturday. True, many of the last half plays were signalled from the bench, but the brawn was there, too.

There is nothing to stop Meyers and his cohorts from naming the plays from now on, although the Trojan head coach never has been one to put words in a quarterback's mouth. Meyers has utmost faith in his attacking scheme when it is blended adroitly, and if he has to call the dance, he likely will do it.

If the Trojans had their best physical array afield Saturday, it probably was because line mentor Morrie Grigg instituted two important changes during the past week. He sent Mike Krickzy to right end and Bob Sutton to right tackle. The chappies are sophomores, but they play senior grade football.

Krickzy took on West Chester's end sweep escort in hand to hand combat on several occasions and invariably was the winner against heavy odds. Once Mike bashed down two blockers, warded off a third and snatched an important ankle to upset the ball carrier behind the scrimmage line. That is tall end play.

AS FOR SUTTON, Sam Green tells it this way:

"That boy will be another Bodulus, we want him in there." His teammates are sold on quiet Bob chiefly because he made at half of tackles in pileups that could not be seen from the outside. Sutton is a dandy blocker along with it, and while his comparatively light weight of 165 pounds does not qualify him as a bruising tackle, he makes the most of getting the first and best lick.

Chances are the Trojan planning board will graduate more sophs into varsity roles before the year is out. Title hopes and chances for a piping hot season all gone, the coaches will look to next year and begin construction, brick by brick.

UPCOMING BERWYN is undefeated and impressive enough to rate co-favorite with Phoenixville in the Chesmont title chase despite Phoenix's romp over strong Norristown.

Berwyn's card has not been exceptionally loaded to date, but among the victims are Lansdale, Upper Moreland, Coatesville, Conshohocken, Upper Merion and Radnor. Coatesville was the latest, falling 7-0 the past Friday night.

The Bulldogs will bring another cozy defensive unit into town Saturday. They have blanked three foes and given up but 26 points in six starts. Pottstown has surrendered 54 in five tests. Offensively, it has been Berwyn 116 points on the season to the Trojans 38.

But Meyers and his men are not prone to roll over and play dead. They've yet to be blown off the court, and when their offense jells, they can give anyone an interesting, if not painful afternoon.

STRAY SLANTS... football stranger than fiction: Dick Powell completed a pass to Dick Powell in yesterday's jayvee game... tossed over line of scrimmage and a West Chester lineman batted it right back to him... Bill Paolantonio, Norco coach, commenting on East Greenville's Mike Dink offers this proof positive that the East Greenville Express is all his rave notices say: "On a punt return, our boys hit him 14 times (I counted them), and he kept on going for a touchdown... Bill McCabe, PHS coach who keeps an eye out for prospective gridders for alma mater Penn State, has tabbed Norristown's Don Shank and Bob Keyser, both linemen, as his top choices among lads he has seen....

Perk Roundup Two League Tussles on Slate

after a decisive 21-6 victory over Wyomissing, is gunning to run out its remaining slate unbeaten and will not dilly-dally with the favored Pirates Saturday.

Spring City, 20-7 conqueror of Marple - Newtown, goes from rough to rougher from here on and is depending upon keeping its record respectable by shelling the Wildcats.

Pirate Coach Gene Groff has no illusions. "It will be a tough one all the way," he said, "and if we play dumb football, they can lick us."

Both teams will be at top trim after the probable return of ace tackles to both squads. Norco is expecting Tom Mauger, out with a gashed lip for two games, to return; while Spring City is hoping that Bill Hoffman will be ready after missing a pair of tests with a bruised hip muscle.

WINLESS SCHWENKVILLE and winless West Pottsgrove inaugurate Little Four title play on the Stowe field and it could be anybody's ball game. Both teams have been shellacked regularly by bigger units, but both have displayed scoring punch.

West Pottsgrove has been idle for two weeks, while Schwenkville bowed to Roversford the past Saturday, 41-0.

DOUBLE-DUTY By Alan Mavor

Joe Foley Is Mercury Football Test Winner

Experts fell like flies in one of the whackiest weekends of college football yet perpetrated, but one seer, Joseph L. Foley, 835 South street, weathered the storm admirably to become this week's top expert in the Mercury's Football Forecaster contest.

Foley hit eight of ten games on the button, as did two other contestants, and named the most nearly correct scores in the ten games. The winner stumbled in picking Pottstown over West Chester and Southern California over Navy. He was right as rain, however, on several upsets.

notably Indiana over Notre Dame and Ursinus over Swarthmore.

Foley is entitled to four free tickets to the Saturday Berwyn-Pottstown High game. He may pick up his prize at the Mercury office.

Second place went to Joe Gofus of Fifth street, who also had eight winners. His misses were the failure of Notre Dame and Southern Cal.

Gofus is winner of two free tickets to the PE game.

Other contestants and their scores are as follows:

Eight winners—Joseph L. Foley, Joe Gofus, Erwin Jenschke.

Seven winners—Daniel D. Schuko, Kenneth Brunner, Alvin R. Seybold, Marion Kuntisky, Glenn Miller, Joseph Crusch, Don Long, Art Freimuth, Fred Kupske, Bernadette Koren, L. The 62-year-old Corridon piloted the Sox to sixth place in 1950 after being elevated from the coaching lines to replace Jack Onslow.

Luke Appling May Get Managerial Post in Memphis

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Luke Appling, whose 2218 games at shortstop for the White Sox stands as an all-time major league baseball record, may become manager of the club's farm club at Memphis in the Southern association this week.

Appling is scheduled to meet in Chicago tomorrow or Wednesday with Chuck Comiskey, Sox vice president, and general manager Frank Lane.

"Appling has had other offers to manage minor league clubs," said Comiskey, "but I'm inclined to think he will regard our proposition as the best."

Comiskey added that Appling will no longer be retained by the Sox as a player-coach, a position he held last season when 21-year-old Chico Carrasquel took over as shortstop.

Comiskey said that the Sox' newly

Trojan Jayvees Shade Warrior Reserves 2-0

Pottstown and West Chester High drew even for the athletic year yesterday when the Trojan jayvee gridders battled to a 2-0 decision over West Chester's yearlings on Franklin field's muddy carpet.

Ironically, it was a safety in the Warrior till that proved the difference, 8-6, between the varsity elevens Saturday afternoon at West Chester.

The locals earned the tally after squandering a redhot scoring drive late in the second period. West Chester, working in the infield mud at the south side of the field, suffered a five-yard penalty to its own three-yard line. On the next play, butterfinger ballhandling brought on a fumble and when West Chester's Bill Lewis recovered in the end zone, the Trojans had all the points they needed.

Actually, the scoring or lack of it failed to describe the ball game. Both teams made merry overland on the muddy and slippery turf although neither was able to go all the way. West Chester managed six first downs and Pottstown's youngsters had eight, four of them in a row just before the safety.

COACH BILL McCABE'S Trojans turned in the day's lustiest march in the second round when, after Jim Long returned a pass interception to the Pottstown 40, they marched 67 fruitless yards.

Willoway Fred Harvey was the spearhead. Using his 130 pounds battering ram fashion, Harvey reeled off buck gains totaling 20 yards during the drive. With Peety Peterson he managed to move his club down to the West Chester 26, whence Peterson pitched to Billy Sandoe at the three.

Sandoe made a neat diving catch after stopping short, then button-hooking to meet the short loss. From the three, Peterson was nailed for a two-yard loss and Harvey lost three on an end sweep attempt.

On the next play, Sam Black intercepted Powell's basketball pass over the line and was downed at the foe 8.

Two plays failed to gain, then the Warriors were docked five yards for delaying the game back to their three. The fumble and resulting safety followed.

POTTSTOWN MOVED again briefly in the third period when Merrill Renninger reclaimed a fumble at the Trojan 45. Harvey socked over guard for 13 and a first down, then teamed with Powell for another new set of downs at the foe 28. But Horace Gauger fumbled on a buck attempt and the drive died.

West Chester threatened twice. Late in the game, the Warriors marched 54 yards to Pottstown's six-yard line, but the Trojans held on downs thanks to some questionable Warrior quarterbacking. The invader elected to pass on a fourth down, one foot to go situation and was unsuccessful.

In the first period, the two teams exchanged pass interceptions that put West Chester in business at Pottstown's 12-yard line. But four plays netted but as many yards and the Trojans held.

THE VICTORY was the local jayvees second in three tests. They

Bomber Seeking To Show He "Can Still Hold Own"

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Joe Louis is "not particularly interested in a return match" with heavy-weight boxing champion Ezzard Charles, the ex-champion said here today.

Louis said the chief reason for his forthcoming bout with Caesar Brion in Chicago is to prove to himself that he still can hold his own with the best of them. Louis topped here en route to West Baden, Ind., where he will train for his Nov. 29 fight with Brion.

Louis said he believes he would have no trouble getting another fight with Charles if he can win three or four more bouts.

But he added, "I may quit before I get another bout with Charles. If I can see that I'm back t, where I think I can hold my own against the best of them, that may be enough."

"Brion is a pretty tough boy," Louis said with a grin. "And I'm gonna be in good shape for him. I was in good shape for Charles, too, but I just didn't have the killer instinct that night."

Louis scoffed at suggestions that he is "washed up" as a fighter. "I just can't quit when I feel like I do," he said.

Job Switch

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Walter Kolish said he has resigned as secretary and publicity director of the American baseball association to become general manager of the Louisville club in the National professional basketball association.

Rote Right; Navy Defenses Won

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Old Professor was full of beams as he faced his Monday class of football coaches. It was easy to see he was a man of metal, with his iron constitution, steel nerves, gold teeth and plenty of brass.

Old Professor—Cheerio, gents, and a bright good morning. I hope you know your lessons by rote today.

Rusty Russell, Southern Methodist—speaking of Rote, professor, you were looking at an All-America out there Saturday night, and I do mean Kyle Rote. Our gang played fine ball and beat a good team.

Jess Neely, Rice—Rote is as fine a back as there is anywhere. He's different from Doak Walker but is just as good in his own style. Our defense was pretty bad.

Old Professor—Mr. Oosterbaan, that improves with age, besides you-know what?

Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan—Our team. We looked good out there against Wisconsin, and Chuck Ortmann was great. I think our team certainly is getting better as it goes along.

Ivy Williamson, Wisconsin—It was ironical that we helped ourselves along a lot in our first three games by capitalizing on fumbles and pass interceptions, then had our luck turn.

Old Professor—I take it you had a turn for the worse, Mr. Erdelatz, what can you count on?

Eddie Erdelatz, Navy—My fingers, professor, and it takes six of them to count Southern Cal's offenses. We used seven different defenses, so I guess we outnumbered them. We made several personnel changes on defense that made a big difference.

JEFF CRAVATH, Southern California—We'll have to start fighting early to win with this ball club. When the Trojans routed the Navy in the first five minutes of the game our kids let down a little. That cost us this one because everything that happened thereafter seemed to give Navy more drive and incentive. If quarterback Frank Gifford had hit one of four successive passes to receivers in the clear it would have been no contest. I can't make excuses, however.

Old Professor—Why are you holding your head, Mr. Schwartz?

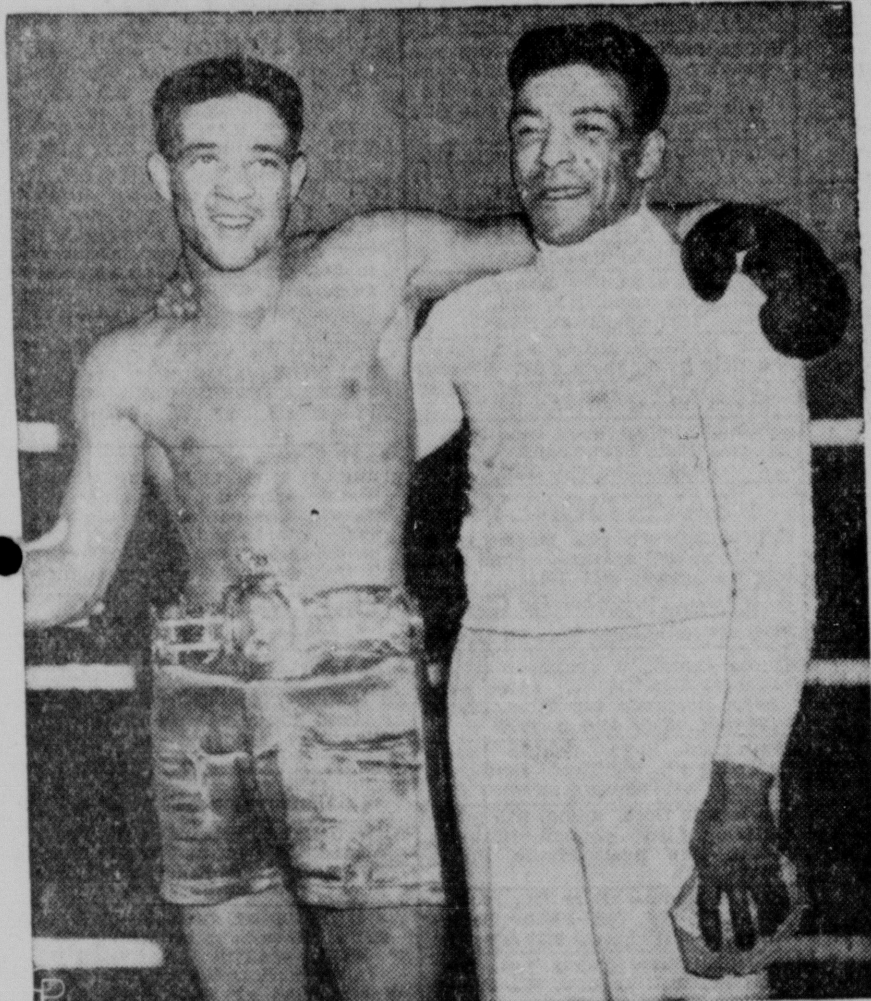

Marchie Schwartz, Stanford—Oooh, was that a tough day! And if that was a tough one, what can we expect next from Washington, Army and California?

Red Sanders, UCLA—This game plainly showed, I think, that Stanford's sky-high pre-season billing was not justified. My Bruins are as scrappy a team as you'll find anywhere.

Old Professor—Mr. Stuber, how do you fare with the passing weeks? Or maybe I should say with the passing of weeks?

Abe Stuber, Iowa State—Well, Professor, Bill Weeks' passing was just about 'average for Weeks' Saturday. If he had one of his really good days we could have won. My boys played pretty well at that, though. Missouri ran hard and well.

Fair Catch Rule May Be Restored in College Ball

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—College football may restore the fair catch to the rule book in 1951.

At least Lou Little, chairman of the coaches rules committee, thinks the boys may have made a mistake in abolishing the fair catch last winter.

"I have written to Fritz Crisler (NCAA rules committee chairman), suggesting we reconsider our action," said Little. "I'm wondering if we were right last year."

Little spoke at the weekly luncheon of the New York Football Writers association. He explained how the fair catch was abolished.

"In recent years we've spent so much time developing punt runbacks that nobody used the fair catch," he said. "You'd get two men back and criss cross them, not worrying about trying to block the punt."

"But the last few years they have started to use a new spread formation on punts. The punter goes back deep, maybe 15 yards, away, and kicks as high and far as he can. The lineman just brush the other team. Then they all go down field in a wave and stand right in front of the receiver. He can't stick up his hand for a fair catch. He has to catch the ball (to prevent a long roll), knowing that he is going to be dumped as soon as he does."

Three Persons From Area Serve on Grand Jury

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, Oct. 23.—The October grand jury of 11 women and six men was sworn in here today by Judge George C. Corson.
It includes three persons from the Pottstown area. They are Guy Bailey, 373 North Charlotte street; Rae Morris, 935 High street, and Fred Kleinbach, Green Lane.
Excused from duty were Emma Hauck, Perkiomenville; Florence Landis, Pottstown RD 4, and Horace Weir, Schwenksville RD.
The jury will be in session this week to consider bills of indictments in approximately 40 criminal cases to be presented by District Attorney J. Stroud Weber and his staff.

TURKEY CROP —

The sticking relaxes it so it won't bruise itself in the death reflexes.
A minute or so later, after the blood has drained, the turkey is put in a gas-operated scalding vat, then held over an electrically-driven cylinder, studded with flexible rubber knobs that knock off the feathers in a hurry.
The turkey is passed through a window into the dressing building. It's fastened to a metal shackles hanging from a chain that goes, trolley-fashion, in a circle around the building.
Somebody picks its pin feathers. Somebody puts its legs in a mechanical gadget that pulls its tendons neatly. It's dropped into an eviscerating trough, where it's drawn by other workers. Then it's dropped into a tank to await delivery to the next room.
Here, the bird is readied either for fresh-killed delivery or for quick-freezing, which is done at Pottstown Cold Storage company, within four hours of the killing.
"The frozen birds are even fresher than the fresh-killed ones," Nicholson pointed out.
MRS. NICHOLSON said that about half of their turkeys are sold as quick-frozen. These birds are wrapped in transparent plastic, from which most of the air is drawn by a vacuum machine, so the turkey will have a form fit, and then are individually boxed.
"The turkey business is going to pieces," Mrs. Nicholson said with a smile, explaining that a large part of their fresh-killed turkeys are cut up by butchers for non-holiday trade.
Housewives who don't care to wrestle with a big turkey except on holidays now can buy a breast of turkey for roasting, legs to be fricasseed, wings to be browned and baked, backs and necks to be made into potpies or soups, Mrs. Nicholson asserted.
This development, she continued, has gone a long way toward making their business a year-around one. "Turkey time is all the time now," she said.
She also observed that Thanksgiving Day is overrated as far as turkey consumption goes. She estimated that their farm sold twice as many turkeys the past year for Christmas as for Thanksgiving dinners.
As an explanation, she hazarded the guess that more people in the area are able to organize real family get-togethers at Christmas than at the one-day holiday.

A Royal Dance

Not a word was mentioned about the moon when Christopher Wright (above), 24, of Chicago, danced with Princess Margaret Rose of England during her visit to Oxford university where the former is a student. Christopher described the Princess as a "smooth stepper" and reported he thoroughly enjoyed the experience.

HUNTER VOTE —

Fazlik, a committee member at Vaughan's, and Mary Wahl, chairman of the Hunter plant committee.
A union spokesman said after the meeting, "The program of organizing workers in Pottstown is going just as we expected. We are very satisfied with the results and expect to continue with the organizing."
The union drive began in August. It is aimed at the organization of 1300 employees of Pottstown area knitting mills.
It was announced that contract negotiations with the Century-Beverly corporation would begin tomorrow. Also tomorrow, discussions with Vaughan Knitting company management, begun early this month, will continue.

PARK GROUP —

from the Pottstown Lions club.
Also electrifying the Manatany park island pavilion by Electrician William H. Fosnacht, and furnishing of scrap metal by John Balogh, Mayer Pollock company, and the Rivlin Bros. scrap company.
McCaslin noted that the Memorial Park association recently rebuilt the bridge from the mainland to the island, cleaned out debris around the memorial and seeded bare spots on the island.
He also thanked Contractor W. R. Croasdale for leveling the tennis courts and outfield of the baseball diamond.

THE NEW PRESIDENT of the group has been in Pottstown for six years as distributor of Cities Service products.

He came here from New York after working for the Firestone Tire and Rubber company for 22 years. His last job with the company was New York district manager for retail and wholesale outlets.
Sweeney is a director of the Lions club, a member of the Elks and YMCA and a member of St. Peter's Catholic church.
He lives at 74 Mt. Vernon, and he and Mrs. Sweeney are the parents of three sons, Edward Jr. and James, in business with their father, and Richard, a student at the Pierce business school in Philadelphia.
